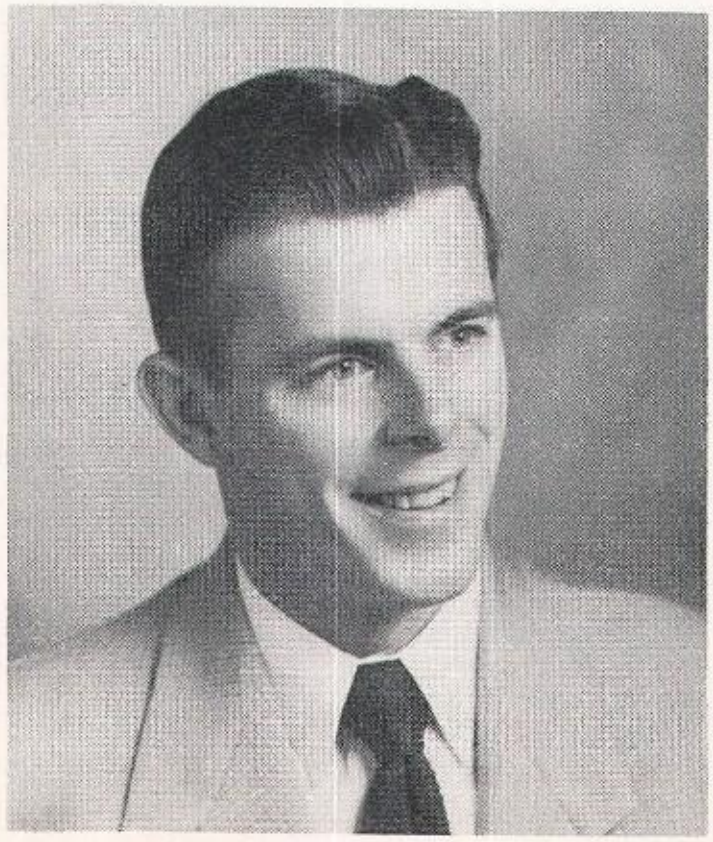
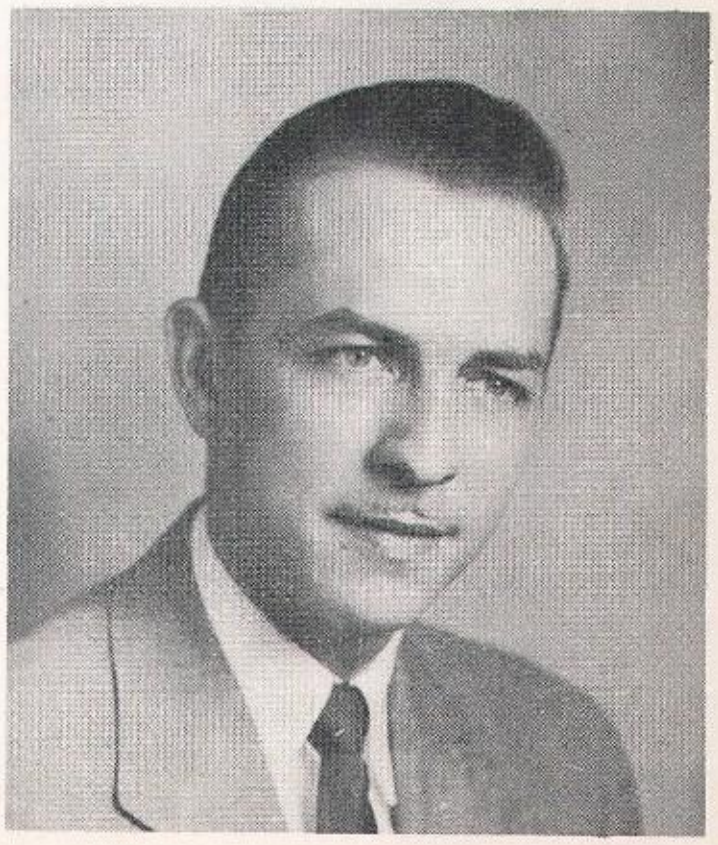
SPONSORS



R. F. Whitmore (Supt.)



D. E. Lavigne (Principal)

Norma Addleman

"Norn"--Often quiet, but always cheerful.

1951 – 1952

Marian Alfrey

"Mernie"--To follow her is to progress.

Arlene Cowperthwait

"Arlie"--Short and sweet with little feet.

Mary Ellen Davis

"Mary Mel"--So very tall, not so shy; boys whistle when she passes by.

Kenneth Dobbs

"Mule"--Those in our class all agree, "To know him is to like him."

MARIE ANNE DUERR

"Brains"--In her schoolwork she's very smart: And she'll always do her part.

STEVENS GRAY

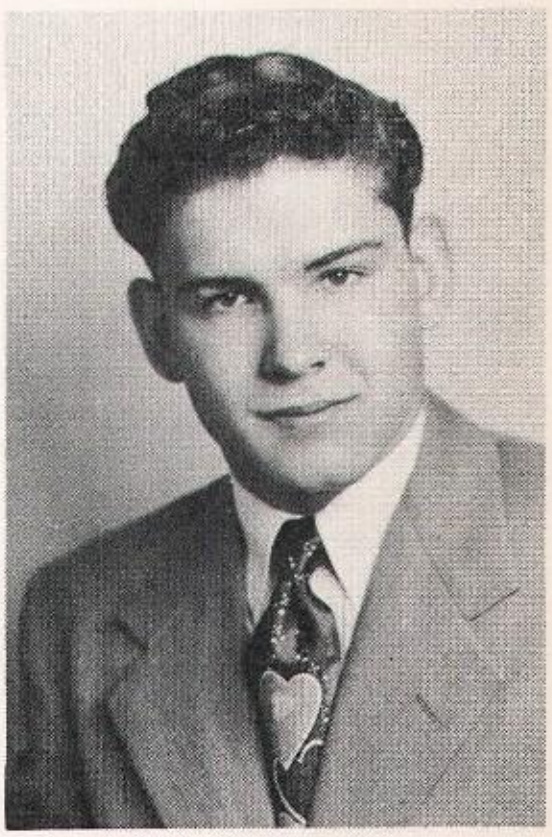
"Steve"--To win his point is his objective in life.

LUCILLE GRAHAM

"Lucy"--Fair and gentle; good and true.

JOHN HAMMONS

"Hambone"--Why he's so quiet we really can't say, but if you need a pal, he'll save the day.

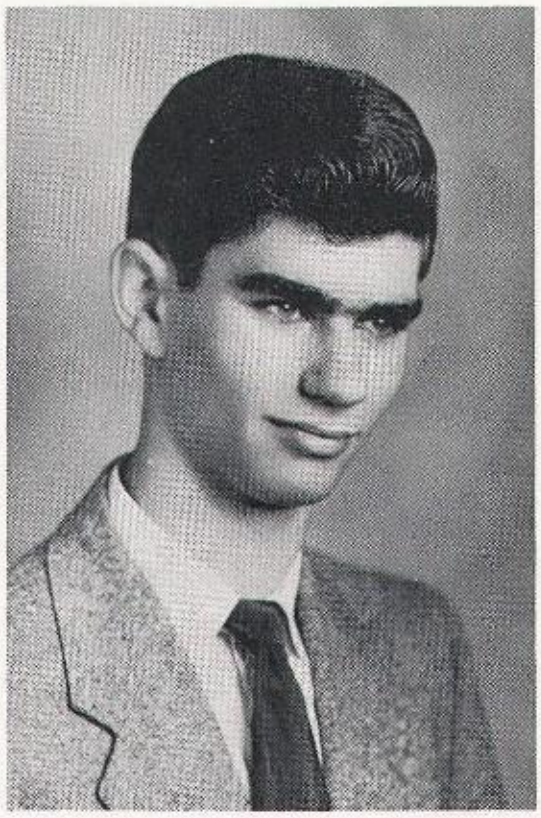


DONALD HEADLEY

"Homer"--Cute, dark, a real guy; a better dressed boy you'll never spy.

BARBARA HEARD

"Bobbi"--Blonde and fair; she'll smile anywhere.



BRUCE HIRSCH

"Lover"--In all his studies he's very smart; including Romance and to him it's an Art.

RONALD HINKLE

"Ronnie"--Not much static do you hear from him; for the good-looking girls are always with him.

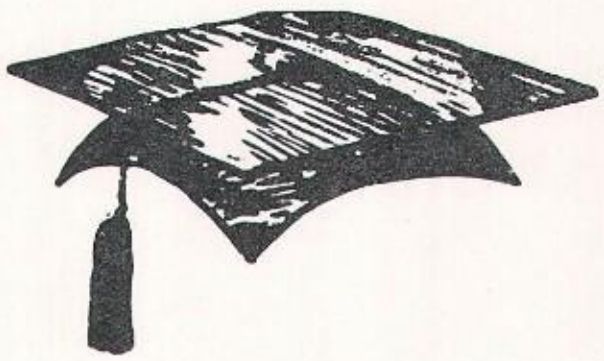
JOYCE HUTCHISON

"Hutch"--Hair so red; voice so fine. A friend indeed at any time.

LANORA INMAN

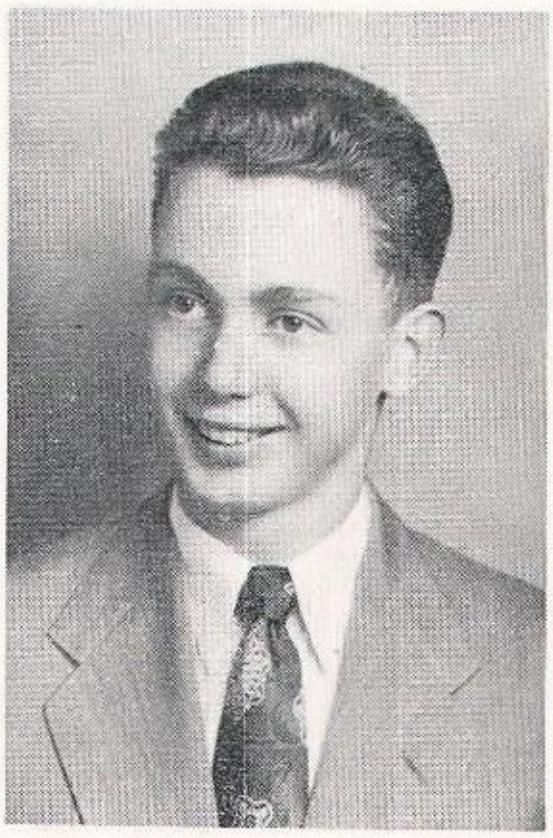
"Noie"- This little lass, with hair so red; fun to be with--that's enough said.

WANDA ISAAC
"Buckets"--Come what will, come what may; she's a good sport every day.



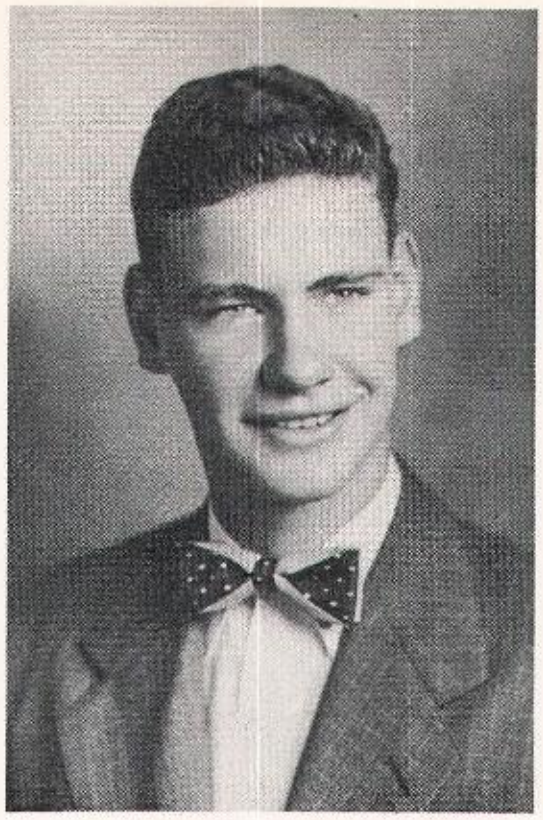
PATRICK KENNEDY
"Pat"--He has red hair with no curl; too bad he can't settle for just one girl.

JANICE LARSON
"Jan"-- Hair so black; eyes so blue; this little gal will always be true.



FRED MEYERS
"Sleepy"--He deals in dreams and calls it work. From his sleep he'll never shirk.

JAMES OSSENKOP
"Jim"--Witty, kind, and considerate too; he'll always put in a good word for you.



JERRY PARTRIDGE

"Jay"--He always has a bright remark; without him our class would lack that spark.

LLOYD REESON

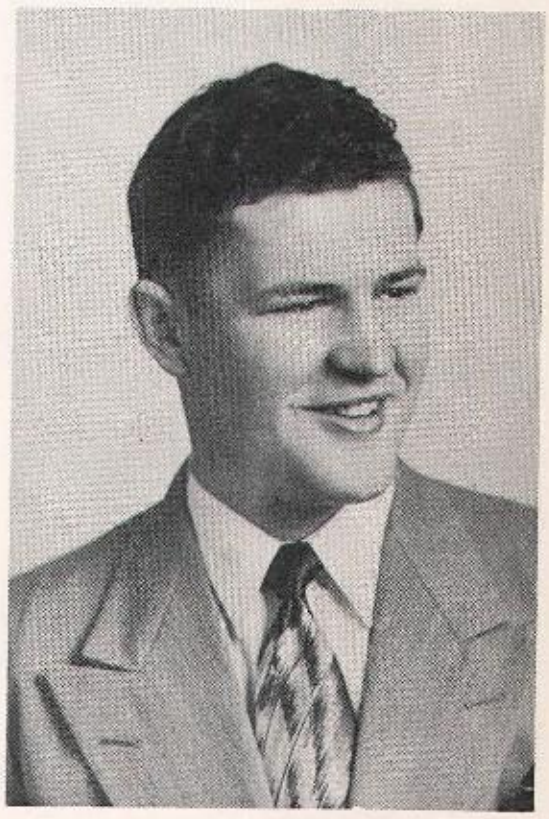
"Smoky"--He joined us in our freshman year; since then, he's brought us lots of cheer.

RONALD REVEILLAC

"Poncho"--Dark and handsome, trim and neat; a better guy you'll never meet.

LARRY ROBBINS

"Spot"--Western thrillers are his pastime; he always reads them during classtime.



RICHARD SCHOEPPNER

"Dick"--In studies he will ring the bell; and as a friend he's really swell.

LARRY SCHOMAKER

"Crow"--Long and lanky; mean and bold; on old "Crow" we're really sold.

ELLEN SNODGRASS

"El"--Quiet and timid; tall and fair; she's one who'll treat you fair and square.

CAROL SJOGREN

"Cay"--Her Model "A" is quite the car; it can be seen both near and far.

ALICE EILEEN URWIN

"Eileenie"--We've always known her as Eileen; and as a friend, she's really keen.

JOHN WORTHMAN

"Worthless"--Two uncles, grandfather, father. As a doctor, too he'll be swell.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

I, being the editor of the San Francisco World Journal, have nominated myself for the post of locating a senior class somewhere in the United States. Having heard so much about the class of '53 of Louisville, Nebraska, I thought you would like to hear about them. From reliable sources, I have heard that this class is a fine group of upstanding citizens who have become a credit to their country.

As I drove through California, I found Larry Robbins, the leading rider at the Belmont Race Track. It seems he and Eddie Arcaro are vying for jockey of the year honors.

Driving on through Hollywood, I saw the premiere of a new movie. Guess who was starring in it? Janice Larson, of course. They always did say she'd take Liz Taylor's place.

I stopped in Reno at the famous Ronnie Hinkle's night club, the El Rocairio. Who should be billed as top entertainers? None other than the Can Can sisters, Davis and Inman.

I didn't run into anymore of the famous class until I drove through their Alma Mater state. It seems that there are several homebodies left.

Wanda Isaac is riding back and forth to work in Omaha on the bus. She is still waiting for Gene and pays on their trailer faithfully in Springfield.

Marian and Jim are living the usual life of a married couple in Louisville.

Eileen is married and has moved to Avoca. She is raising a family of little Eileens and Richs.

I ran into Steve Gray on the streets of Louisville. He told me he was running a mink farm to supply mink coats for all of his wives. Talk about harems!

While driving through the open countryside a red flash about blinded me, it was only Pat Kennedy. He had been out plowing his corn and was rushing home to one of Donna's delicious meals.

I then drove on down into Missouri where I ran into Bobbie Heard. She told me she had been trying to make her own home brew, but the revenue agents just wouldn't leave her alone. I found that Jerry Partridge was working for her. It seems he had finally put his feet to good use, smashing grapes.

When passing through Washington D.C., I saw Ken Dobbs campaigning. He is running for senator so he can try to get this Missourian talk to be a required subject in all public schools.

In Boston, I took a tour of the World's largest mattress factory. I discovered it's co-owners were Schomaker, Ossenkop, and Meyers. It seems each plays an important part in their business. Larry handles all the money, Jim is the inspector and Fred tests the products.

I decided as long as I was going through New York, I would make a tour of the sports arenas. Here I found Don Headley and Bruce Hirsch. They are the play makers on the Globetrotters team, even though they do have to use a little greaseblack.

At Madison Square Garden, Lou and Lloyd are known as the toughest tag team in wrestling.

At the Hanover Model Agency, I saw Lucille Graham, Arlene Cowperthwait, and Ellen Snodgrass waiting in line. Yes, they were back for another try.

Standing in the harbor, I waved good-bye to Ron Reveillac and John Hammons. They had joined the Navy and were leaving to go overseas. Ron was going for the mere pleasure of seeing the world, while John was going to give another certain guy some competition.

I had seen enough of New York and decided to drive back towards the West. I passed through Detroit. There Dick Schoeppner has become the top mechanic in the Ford Plant.

When driving through Minnesota, I found John Worthman as head doctor at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester. He has two very efficient helpers. Carol Sjogren and Norma Addleman are his right-hand nurses.

Joyce and Lauren are happily married in Minnesota. Joyce has learned to become a loving farm wife.

I now had seen all of this senior class but one. Where was she? Maybe she was out of the country. Yes, Marie Anne had gone to Paris as a representative from the U.S. to take part in a conference on world affairs.

The deadline is nearing, I have only six hours to get back to San Francisco and make the press. I feel my trip has been worth while and I know you will enjoy reading about this famous class of '53.

CLASS HISTORY

In 1941, twenty-one freshly scrubbed little angels, hiding behind mothers skirts, filed into the reception room of Miss French, a smiling, young teacher, who we left all worn-out and bedraggled at the end of the year. Much to the girls' delight, Don Headley graced us with his presence by entering this year.

Our second and third grades were spent in the capable hands of Mrs. Reichart. The class decreased in size during these two years as John Worthman, Janice Larson, Eleanor Kimbrell, Paul Kilborn, Phylis Marcoe, Jimmy Ellige, Jerry Jo Bolden, and Shirley Masters departed from our company. Carol Sjogren, Joyce Hutchison and Ken Dobbs boosted our total to 17.

In our fourth and fifth years, John Worthman, Janice Larson, Dixie Schrader and Shirley Masters joined our ranks guided by our loving and understanding Mrs. Funke.

In the sixth grade our class was divided between Mrs. Dahlberg and Miss Knerl. Ken Dobbs left for Missouri and Carl Weimer joined us.

Mrs. Koop then took on the task of taming our harrowing class in the seventh grade. Don Headley, Shirley Masters and Raymond Hendrix left the class mid-year, while the rest of us struggled on.

Since we were considered so intelligent, our eighth grade class was allowed to associate with the upper bracket. We passed intermittently to our classes with the high school. Although there was a general resent of our presence, we strongly held our own. Carl Weimer left us and Randolph Burt, Wanda Issac and red headed Bob Herring reinforced our class.

Jim Ossenkop, Norma Addleman, Arlene Cowperthwait, Lucille Graham, Ellen Snodgrass, Pat Kennedy, Donna Booze, Marie Anne Duerr, JoAnn Sheehan and Lloyd Reeson survived the brutal initiation with the rest of us. We actually had to eat raw eggs! Marie Anne and Steve must have been particularly hungry, because they asked for second helpings. Lucky Bob Herring and Randolph Burt escaped this torture by departing.

As sophomoric sophomores of '51, we accumulated two new members, John Hammons and Don Headley. However, JoAnn Sheehan and Richard Revillac preferred Weeping Water and freedom, respectively. The waitresses and waitors for the Jr. -Sr. Banquet were: Lorraine Woehler, Norma Addleman, Mary Ellen Davis, Eileen Urwin, Joyce Hutchison, Donnie Headley, Pat Kennedy, Bruce Hirsch, John Worthman and Jim Ossenkop.

Nearing our goal as Juniors, we lost Donna Booze to Springfield. After a successful production of our class play, "Caught in the Villian's Web", Lorraine Woehler departed from our class, married Wayne Cherry and settled down in Colorado. Ron Hinkle and Larry Schomaker had the privilege of working with us on our magnificent Jr. -Sr. Banquet, "Desert Oasis".

Now, as Seniors, we total thirty mature, captivating ladies and gentlemen. For the past school term we have been trying to convince our teachers of this fact. A new student, "Bobbie" Heard, was a great asset to our outstanding class play, "Desperate Ambrose". Our art editor of the Lion's Tale, Chuck Reynolds, deprived us of his talents by leaving school mid-term.

Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises have ended a twelve year struggle to the top. We want to wish the Juniors the luck and happiness that we have known throughout our education in dear old L. H. S.

The Juniors have given two parties this year, an all-school party and one celebrating the success of their play. Both naturally, were great affairs.

Now they are working hard on the banquet for the Seniors under the understanding leadership and guidance of their two sponsors, Mrs. Lavigne and Mrs. Reinke.

The Junior class has 23 members now. They lost Jean Workman who got married in November and Tom Zastera who is going to finish in Plattsmouth; Daleene Sterling transferred from Weeping Water.

Don't let them fool you!

During their first year in Louisville High, the innocent freshmen have sponsored one all-high school party. The party, of course, was a great success.

As a class of twenty-nine members, they ventured on one hike to Kobler's meadow. The journey was not all in vain, because the members of this collection of rare species learned their class yell.

The Louisville Lions Football Team came through the 1952 season with the enthusiasm and spirit that is commendable to any team.

A record of five wins and three losses was ascribed for the successful season.

Don Headley racked up seventy points which helped place him in the honorable mention status of the All-State Football Team.

Bruce Hirsch and Don Headley were credited with the honor of being named on the Conference All-Star Football Team. End, Ron Reveillac, and center, Jerry Partridge, were named for Conference All-Star Honorable Mention.

Leading the team through victory and defeat were captains Don Headley and Bruce Hirsch at halfback and quarterback.

The Volleyball team this year had an inbetween season. We couldn't say it was a great success, but it was far from a failure. We played 15 games, which resulted in 9 wins anu 6 losses. In the tournaments we won 2 games and lost 2 which prevented winning a trophy. Mary Ellen Davis was elected as tourna-ment captain and Mary Ellen and Eileen Urwin were chosen on the All Conference Team.

"53 LION" ANNUAL STAFF

Editors' Note: The annual, the "53 Lion" is finally finished. We wish to take this opportunity of thanking everyone who had anything to do with the production of the annual and their excellent co-operation throughout. We wish to thank you, the boosters and advertisers for helping finance this annual. Without your financial help our annual would have been impossible.

In dedicating the annual, the class decided that our parents, who have stood behind us throughout our education during the last twelve years, deserved this honor.

We chose the name "53 Lion" in hopes that it will become a traditional name for the annual in the years to come.

We wish to express our sincere gratitude and appreciation to Mrs. Lavigne, sponsor of the "53 Lion". Her undying effort and friendly co-operation have made the task of publishing this yearbook a pleasant and long remembered experience.

Thanks, also, to John Worthman and Jim Ossenkop for their efforts in getting advertising for our annual and for their work in getting subscriptions. We hope you will enjoy it as much as we enjoyed working on the annual.

The high school L Club consists of those boys lettering in sports.

During this year, the L Club has had two bake sales. The proceeds of these activities went to buy gold letter sweaters for Senior athletes. Eleven boys received their sweaters and letters.

On March 13, the L Club journeyed to Lincoln to attend the State Basketball Tournament. This was their only field trip this year.

At the beginning of the school term, two students are elected from each class to serve as a Student Council representative. Their aim is to create more interest in school activities and to boost school spirit.

At Christmas time, the Student Council sponsored a gala affair inviting the entire student body. The money taken in at this party was used to buy phonograph records for use at high school parties.

With a regular meeting at two-thirty o'clock on every Wednesday afternoon, the Student Council was able to be quite active this year.

Another of their projects was making posters emphasizing the importance of cooperation and school spirit within the school.

With the guided leadership of their sponsor, Mr. Lavigne, the group was an inspiration to the school.
